A POTENTIAL MARKET FOR YOUR GOODS

WITH DEPTH OF PENETRATION

The significant thing is not how much market is covered by a certain MEDIUM, but how much is penetrated. The Illustrated Weekly of Pakistan has unusual depth of penetration. It goes weekly into better than average "spendable income" homes where it is eagerly awaited and read with thoroughness. It appeals to the cream of newspaper reading public from the standpoint of intelligence and potential purchasing power. Readers know that its advertising columns are wholly reliable.

International Medical Abstracts & Reviews

(THE JOURNAL OF THE INDIAN MEDICAL PROFESSION)

Alipore, Post Box No. 5, — CALCUTTA 27 (India)

CONTEMPORARY OPINIONS

We hasten to congratulate you on the format and on the quality of the contents.—The Practitioner (London)

We should like to receive this journal regularly. The British Medical Journal (London)

The aim of International Medical Abstracts and Reviews, a new periodical published monthly in Calcutta, is to make available to the Indian Medical profession all worthwhile recent medical literature. To this end it is divided into sections consisting of reviews of medical progress, abstracts of current literature, current comments, laboratory and therapeutic notes, reports of societies, book-reviews and lists of the contents of the chief medical periodicals. This journal is more attractively produced and better printed than the majority of Indian medical periodicals that we have seen.—The British Medical Bulletin (London)

We welcome this new venture of Dr. Dhar. Medical journals of desirable standard and efficiency are few in India. We hope this journal will maintain the high standard of the first number, and will meet the needs of the general practitioners by supplying them abstracts of the articles which will be of use in their daily work. The Indian Physician (Bombay)

Science is rapidly advancing. It is not possible for a practitioner to keep pace because he has limited time to study the various journals. We were looking forward to such a medical magazine which would bring abstracts and reviews of the world literature. We congratulate Dr. Jyoti Dhar for taking this lead. The International Medical Abstracts and Reviews would be very useful. We wish the editor every success.—The Journal of Obsterics and Gynecology (Lahore)

It contains valuable extracts from various journals. The subject matters have been properly chosen and the extracts are short without the omission of valuable points. We think such a publication will be appreciated by practitioners who may not have the opportunity of getting access to important current journals. Such adequate summary of important, medical matters will be of great help for reference purposes to contributors, to journals and in general to writers on medical subjects.—The Calcutta Medical Journal (Calcutta)

We welcome one more addition to our Indian journals. The IMAR aims at making available to the profession all worthwhile recent medical literature from the whole world. We have gone through its first issue, and find that it has certainly made a good effort to do so. Language other than English are not known to most of the medical men, hence, scientific progress found in non—English journals is undoubtedly a very welcome feature. If IMAR devotes more attention to this side, it will be truly serving its purpose. It is neatly printed on beautiful art paper and in bold type which we trust will be maintained throughout. It is a monthly journal with an annual subscription of Rupees twelve per annum. The Sind Medical Journal (Karachi)

The principal features of this monthly which is new in the field, having made its first appearance in January 1947, are a section of Review of Medical Progress and one of Abstracts of Current Literature designed to meet the needs of the general practitioner. The subject matters from the world literature in the latter section are well chosen and the extracts precise and concise. The journal may well aspire, in course of time, to minimise the need for going through several journals and be of help both for purposes of study and reference.

The get-up and quality of printing, at a time when facilities are scarce, also deserve special notice and while we expect still further improvements in every direction in future we cannot but congratulate Dr. Dhar on the excellent results already achieved.—The Journal of the Indian Medical Association (Calcutta)
